Scoring Criteria and What Examiners Look For

Understanding how your letter is assessed is vital for targeted preparation. The OET writing is scored based on four main criteria:

- Content: Relevance and completeness of information. The letter should address all parts of the task, including all necessary details.
- Conciseness and Clarity: The message must be straightforward, well-organized, and easy to understand.
- Language: Appropriate use of grammar, vocabulary, and tone suited to professional communication.

- Main Body: Explanation of the patient's condition, history, and current needs
- Conclusion: Recommendations, requests, or follow-up actions
